1 A. Sorry. Could you repeat the question.

2 Q. Sure. The assignors in this case share
3 in the recovery of any settlement or judgment
4 related to an action to enforce the Daniel's Law
5 rights; correct?

6 A. When you refer to this case, we have 7 many different lawsuits, but in general our terms
8 of service with a covered person in an instance 9 like you are referring to, I think, would govern a 10 contractual relationship that we have with them 11 such that after the assignment was made, to the 12 extent we collected a damage award, we would remit 13 part of that award to the covered person.

14 Q. Okay. And that would be 65 percent of 15 any net recovery, correct, under your service 16 terms?

17 A. I believe that's correct, yes.

18 Q. Okay. And in terms of funding, paying 19 counsel, because it's a net 65 percent, the 20 assignors are paying the legal fees; correct?

21 A. I would not agree with that, no.

22 Q. Okay. Why don't you agree with that?

23 A. You are asking me if the assignors are 24 paying the legal fees?

25 Q. Correct.

1 A. That's not correct.

2 Q. Okay. Who is paying the legal fees?

3 A. My understanding of the flow of legal 4 fees is that some of the fees might be paid by 5 Atlas, other legal fees would -- and I'm not a 6 lawyer here, so I am speaking to it as a lay
7 person. Other legal fees would be included in a 8 contingency-type arrangement where if there were 9 successful financial recovery in a case, the firms 10 participating on that case would be eligible for 11 mechanisms by which to recoup some of their 12 expenditures and fees.

13 Q. Any other understanding with regard to 14 legal fees?

15 A. I'm not sure what you mean by legal 16 fees. It could be an expansive definition in the 17 legal world, so you as a lawyer -- I'm not -- I'm 18 not -- maybe it would help if you could define 19 exactly everything that would be encompassed
20 within legal fees.

21 Q. Well, you said some fees are paid by 22 Atlas, correct, that was your testimony?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. Okay. What legal fees are paid by 25 Atlas?

1 by covered persons to pursue legal action either
2 individually, collectively or as class members?

3 A. So if you are asking does Atlas get 4 involved in discussions by covered persons who 5 wish to take their own action of whatever type 6 might be available to them? Generally speaking, 7 no, that's not something that we would consider 8 part of our ordinary course of activities.

9 Q. Does Atlas have any preference as to 10 whether covered persons proceeding under little 11 (i) participate individually, collectively or as 12 class members in legal actions?

13 MR. LEE: Outside the scope.

14 A. Our primary objective, as I mentioned, 15 is to see that the promises of Daniel's Law are 16 manifest in the real world and that these 17 individuals who are at risk and in many cases have 18 gone through, as I have -- as I have referred to a 19 few times, pretty serious incidents of threats, 20 violence, death threats, swatting, things like 21 this, that they have the tools available to them 22 that the legislature made available to them that 23 they can use to protect themselves and their 24 families. That's one of the first principles that 25 we go back to. So with our -- with that as the

1 north star, wanting to make Daniel's Law work,
2 make it effective, help people protect themselves,
3 downstream of that the answer to your question
4 would be no, I don't think we have any particular 5 preference as to how that is achieved as long as 6 it is achieved and that that ultimately becomes 7 the end state, that there is a law that's followed 8 and complied with and respected and that these 9 individuals can benefit from the privacy, 10 security, safety protections that followed the 11 murder of the judge's son.

12 Q. Is it fair to say then, sir, that 13 ultimately the decision how to proceed under this 14 section is up to each individual covered person, 15 in your view?

16 MR. LEE: Before or after assignment?

17 Q. In this particular section, little (i), 18 the non-assigned.

19 A. So you are asking me -- sorry. Would 20 you mind restating that.

21 Q. Sure. Is it fair to say that persons 22 preceding under this little (i) section, it's 23 ultimately up to each one of those individual 24 covered persons whether they want to pursue action 25 individually, collectively or in a class?

1 Q. I was going to ask you if it was in the 2 ballpark. Okay.

3 Why were all of those ballpark 19,000
4 assigned claims included in my lawsuit, why didn't 5 you pick a smaller number, for example, to 6 aggregate?

7 MR. LEE: Calls for a legal conclusion.
8 Calls for speculation. Outside the scope.

9 A. Our goal is to effectuate compliance 10 with the law. I don't know why we would 11 selectively have chosen a smaller number of 12 individuals who -- to send assignment
13 confirmations to. Our goal is to make the law
14 work and make it effective, and the litigation
15 reflects that and you see that there is uniformity
16 across the different cases that we filed.

17 Q. But Atlas has the discretion, to use 18 the words in your terms of service, to make that 19 determination as to how many claims to aggregate;
20 correct?

21 A. You keep using the word "aggregation."
22 I --

23 Q. You used the word.

24 MR. LEE: Excuse me. Come on. You are 25 a professional. Please let the witness

1 answer and then you can ask whatever you
2 want.

3 A. You keep using the word "aggregation."
4 I might use it in response to you. I'm not sure 5 how you are using it in each case what it means to 6 you as a lawyer, so I am using it in that lay
7 definition of what you might find in Webster's 8 Dictionary on the first line, just, you know, sort
9 of bundling something up, so I just want to point
10 that out. Would you mind asking the question 11 again.

12 Q. Sure. I just wanted to know if Atlas
13 has the discretion to make that determination.

14 A. Well, we decide -- it's our 15 responsibility to send assignment confirmations, 16 and so ultimately we are the ones who decide who 17 to send them to and how many to send.

18 Q. And you could have decided any number 19 up from 1 to all 19 some-odd thousand; correct?

20 A. Again, our goal is to maximize
21 compliance under the law and I don't know how -- 22 it's not clear to me how selectively prosecuting
23 or selectively taking a smaller group of folks 24 would have achieved that. If you are asking in 25 your specific case and I don't -- this is not

1 directed at you, but -- personally obviously, but 2 The Lifetime Value Companies is an egregious
3 disclosure -- discloser of our covered persons'
4 personal information, they continue to disclose
5 information even today of covered persons, and so 6 they are a good example of why we felt the need to 7 do everything we could to increase the chances 8 that compliance would be achieved and the law
9 would be respected, and to me including more -- 10 including, you know, more -- more in that action 11 is more effective than including less, so that's 12 how I would look at that.

13 Q. Did Atlas consider filing separate
14 civil actions for each covered person whose claims 15 it says was assigned to Atlas?

16 MR. LEE: Improper hypothetical.

17 Hold on.

18 Improper hypothetical. Calls for 19 speculation. Calls for a legal conclusion.
20 Litigation strategy.

21 A. I think it would go into areas of 22 privileged discussions that we might or might not 23 have had with counsel that would be privileged.

24 Q. Let me ask you this: Under your terms
25 of service, Atlas could have pursued each assigned

1 facts and circumstances at issue in any particular 2 case.

3 Q. By the way, if a particular lawsuit, 4 let's just say the one against my client, were not 5 to be able to be resolved, goes all the way to 6 trial, does Atlas expect to have 19,000 some-odd
7 separate trials against Lifetime Value or just one 8 trial?

9 MR. LEE: Calls for a legal conclusion.
10 Speculation. Lack of foundation. Outside 11 the scope.

12 A. I'm not a lawyer. I can't speak to 13 litigation strategy. I wouldn't be able to answer
14 that question. I can tell you on a personal level 15 I hope we don't have to go to court 19,000 times, 16 but I can't answer that question.

17 Q. Is Atlas' preference to go to trial one 18 time, if necessary?

19 A. As I've said, our preference is to -- 20 is to get folks to follow the law, to hopefully, 21 among other things, help data brokers, some of the 22 clients you all represent, understand the very 23 real threats that these individuals face, the need 24 to, again, follow the law, which is the law of the 25 land, but the need to follow the law and protect

1 these individuals, help them, you know, honor 2 their rights, honor their requests, and that being 3 our -- one of our guiding principles, downstream 4 of that we defer to -- obviously we have great 5 outside counsel that we engage with discussions, 6 we engage with them on discussions of litigation
7 strategy, but I can tell you that the outcome -- 8 Atlas' desired outcome is simply to get -- to 9 achieve compliance with law, to get data brokers 10 and other companies to follow the law and to 11 respect the law.

12 Q. Why does Atlas use assignment
13 confirmations to trigger assignments rather than 14 simply tell covered persons that they can ask for 15 an assignment at the time of their choosing?

16 A. The mechanism by which assignment
17 confirmations are provided is laid out in the 18 terms of service -- what is this -- Exhibit 4 in 19 front of me, and this document -- my understanding 20 is this document governs the contractual
21 relationship that we have with those covered 22 persons who sign up for our services and then 23 utilize those services, and this -- this terms of 24 service provides for us to send an assignment 25 confirmation, and upon the sending of that

1 assignment confirmation, for that claim to be 2 assigned.

3 Q. I understand that. I am just asking
4 you why you chose that method as opposed to a 5 different method where the covered person could 6 just decide themselves to assign the claim to you?

7 MR. LEE: Objection. Improper
8 hypothetical. Vague. I don't understand the 9 question.

10 A. I'm not sure I entirely do either.
11 Again, generally speaking, our goal is 12 compliance -- to encourage compliance with the 13 law. Specifically we get into discussions we 14 might have had around litigation strategy, I'm not 15 sure, but those areas would be privileged.

16 Q. If your goal is to ensure compliance
17 with the law, do you think the covered persons 18 share those goals?

19 MR. LEE: Calls for speculation.

20 Answer if you can.

21 A. I can't speak for all covered persons, 22 but I can tell you having spent many hundreds and 23 hundreds of hours with these -- some of these 24 individuals in New Jersey, as I mentioned earlier, 25 often in the context of very serious threats that
